

The observation, management and reasonable utilisation of its property, aiming to achieve its fundamental purpose, meaning its contribution to the defensive organisation and enhancement of the country, through the provision of resources coming from the property's appropriate utilisation.